FOUR KILLED; SCORE INJURED

AN AWFUL EXPLOSION IN CHICAGO

Gas Retorts Blow up and Cause Great Loss of Life and Prop- erty—Over Pressure Caused Accident.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Four persons were killed and a score of others injured by a series of gas explosions that completely destroyed the plant of the Pyle Electric Headlight company, South Chicago, today. The shocks of the explosions were so severe that all buildings near the demolished plant were badly damaged and windows were shattered for blocks and persons walking in the streets were thrown from their feet at a great distance. Overpressure in the tanks containing the gas is believed to have caused the accident.

THE DEAD.
RALPH WELLS, superintendent for the Pyle National Electric Headlight company.

AMOS WATKINS, assistant superintendent same company.

GEORGE MUEHL, draftsman, employed by the Pyle's Gas Light and Coke company.

THOMAS JENNINGS, employed by the Pyle's Gas Light and Coke company.

Of those injured William H. Mahoney and Alfred Cox probably will die.

All of the dead were buried under tons of burning timber and hot brick and iron, making it impossible to remove their bodies for hours after the accident occurred. Firemen poured water on the portion of the building in which the dead were thought to be buried until the flames were subdued sufficiently to permit of the four dead bodies being removed from the debris.

The scene of the explosion is the old Hyde Park gas plant that passed into the hands of the Pyle's Gas Light and Coke company several years ago with the consolidation of the gas interests of Chicago. Through lease the big plant is occupied partly by the Pyle National Electric Headlight company, which is largely engaged in supplying illumination for railroad coaches. This highly explosive illuminant is forced into small retorts, which, when attached under the floor of a car, will supply it with light for months. In order to make this possible the retorts are subjected to an extremely high pressure. It was such a tank that caused the first explosion. Without warning of any kind it burst with a flash and a roar that shook the earth and seemed to lift the building from its foundation. Amid the hurricane of debris workmen were blown out of the structure, far into the streets about it building. Before any one realized what had happened retort after retort exploded in such rapid succession that it was almost impossible to distinguish the detonations. There were nine such explosions in all, which left the plant in flames. Part of the demolished structure is occupied by the Pyle's Gas Light and Coke company and with the spread of flames it was feared that two large tanks filled with gas would become ignited, but hard fighting on the part of fully a hundred firemen finally subdued the flames and prevented an explosion which would undoubtedly have caused a great loss of life and property. The total loss caused by the accident is estimated at $75,000.

VIOLENT ATTACK

Made on Imperial Dynasty by Socialist in Austrian Rich- srath.

Vienna, Nov. 18.—During the session of the reichsrath this afternoon Herr Pernsterfer, one of the socialist leaders, made a violent attack on the imperial dynasty. Referring to the insubordinate affair, he alleged the highest influences had been used to prevent harmonious understanding being reached between Germans and Italians within the monarchy, adding that a settlement of national differences in the tyrol was now rendered impossible for many years. The speaker proceeded to refer to the dynasty, which he charged with being responsible for all the unhappy conditions prevailing in Austria. The Hapsburgs, he said, had always regarded the country as an object of exploitation and had been abetted upon the people for six hundred years. Members of the imperial family were not even prominent for personal qualities. The women, he asserted, were bigots and the men clerical partisans, mostly ignorant and uneducated. He concluded with characterizing the Hapsburgs as the evil fortune of the realm.

Count Deudensky, leader of the Polish party, indignantly protested against Pernsterfer's speech, which he said would not be permitted in any other parliament of the world.

LIVELY SESSION

Disorder During Sitting of Hun- garian Lower House of Law Makers.

Budapest, Nov. 18.—The lower house resumed its sittings at four this afternoon. Count Apponyi, leader of the opposition, declared that the sitting was illegal and that his party was there under protest merely to exercise control. The session lasted until 11 o'clock at night, with evidences of rising temper. Then Premier Tisza, in a speech dealing with the obstruction, declared that there was no choice between abandoning the nation to its fate or putting an end to this comedy. The president of the chamber, De Peretz, in the midst of increasing disorder, tried to put to a vote the motion dealing with obstruction, but was met with howls of derision and screams of passionate protestation.

Deputy Rakosi handed the president a paper demanding that the sitting be closed and on refusal of the president to accept the paper Rakosi threatened him with a pair of scissors. Many members hurled to Peretz's assistance. Seats, benches and ink stands were hurled at Peretz and insulting epithets were freely employed. The opposing parties were hardly prevented from indulging in petty battles. Finally the president read the royal rescript proroguing the house and the sitting closed with scenes of wildest excitement.

BANQUET GIVEN

John Jay Commercial Treaty Commemorated.

John Jay Commercial Treaty Commemorated.

Kansas City, Nov. 18.—An elaborate banquet in commemoration of the signing of the John Jay commercial treaty was given to night by the Commercial club. The guests of honor were Henry D. Estabrook, of New York, general solicitor of the Western Union Telegraph company; John Baldwin, of Omaha; Right Rev. Thomas F. Gallor, of Memphis, bishop of the Episcopal church of Tennessee; Congressman J. Adam Bede of Minnesota and Charles Francis Adams, of Boston. Among others present were Senator Dolliver of Iowa.

Bishop Gallor's topic was "Larger Citizenship." "The American trades union and the American trade trust are each in its way the expression of the socialist spirit, and doubtless have their use and place in the progress of the world," he said. "But when they forget their limitations; when they aspire to become enthroned oligarchies and to dictate absolute industrial conditions to eighty millions of free people, they are inviting ruin; they are sowing the wind to reap the whirlwind."

"The most precious right we have from God and from our ancestors in this free country is our individual liberty; and that liberty is also let us never forget it—our most tremendous responsibility. The greatest trust in the world to day is the trust of American citizenship, and it means more for the poor of the world than any other political birthright."

MORE CONFIDENT TONE DISPLAYED

TRADE GENERALLY IS SHOWING GAINS

Reports From Industries Are More Favorable and Buyers Appear More Willing to Stock Up.

New York, Nov. 18.—Bradstreet's review says: Reports from the great houses of industries are more favorable and wholesale and jobbing trade in holiday and spring goods displays a more confident tone. Interior buyers appear more willing to stock up and are meeting with fair success, despite the fact that unseasonable weather, activity in farm work and some holding back by farmers retards retail trade and collections in the west and northwest. Trade generally is showing gains over the corresponding periods a year ago and the aggregate of the year's business in most lines will make better comparisons than for a time seemed possible. Money displays remarkable ease, crop moving necessities are about satisfied and the return flow from the country is apparently in sight. Cross railway earnings show a tendency to increase late gains and swell earnings for the year to totals above those of 1903.

The coal trade is improving, iron and steel are active and buoyant in price and cotton textiles, long hesitant, display more life. Raw wool is higher on the week, available supplies being closely curtailed. This tends to unsettle the market for men's wear material. There has been material improvement in jobbing distribution since the election. Cold weather will help seasonal goods, such as heavy dry goods, clothing, boots and shoes. Hardware and groceries are also active at western points.

Wheat, including flour, exports for the week were 1,250,000 bushels, against 2,371,000 bushels last year; July 1 to date, 25,678,000 bushels, against 61,578,000 last year.

Corn exports, 100,000 bushels, against 1,002,000 a year ago; July 1 to date, 10,553,000 bushels, against 22,953,000 in 1903.

DUN'S REPORT.

New York, Nov. 18.—Dun's review says: Business was retarded by the storms which interrupted telegraphic communication but the loss was quickly recovered and retail trade responded to the lower temperature, while a large jobbing distribution of holiday goods occurred. Confidence is increasing, particularly in steel and textile industries, and building operations are very vigorous for the season, while mercantile collections are more prompt. Far mistakes are slightly cheaper in response to splendid dispatches from agricultural centers. Railway earnings this far reported for November are 8.6 per cent larger than last year. Foreign trade is exceeding the most sanguine expectations. Official returns for October make the value of exports $102,570,393, exceeding every month on record with the exception of October, 1900, which reported only $90,000,000 larger exports. From the highest forms of machinery and other finished steel products down to scrap and pig iron there is evidence of better demand and an upward tendency in quotations. New England shoe factories have large contracts on hand or spring delivery and salesmen will soon start west with full samples. Progress in cotton goods is still very slow, but buyers are gradually exhibiting a little more disposition to provide for the future.

Failures this week were 27 in the United States, against 249 last year.

ITALIANS PROTEST

Rome, Nov. 18.—Meetings and demonstrations are taking place in many Italian cities to protest against the Innsbruck incident. Police have taken extraordinary precautions to maintain order and prevent manifestations against the Austrian embassy. The most energetic action has been taken by war officers.

Fennessey, well known throughout the country as a leading member of a vaudeville theatrical syndicate, committed suicide to night by swallowing carbolic acid. Recently her husband instituted divorce proceedings. She has been despondent ever since and this is believed to be the cause of her suicide.

STRIKE SPREADS

Furniture Manufacturers Be- come Involved in Trouble With Team Drivers.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—The strike of furniture wagon drivers which led to street riots yesterday spread to day to other factories in the furniture manufacturers' association. Picket lines were established by strikers and several factories were practically in a state of siege, guarding unitists warning away drivers of lumber and coal wagons loaded with material and fuel for the beleaguered plants.

The truck drivers' union, the largest local organization of teamsters in the world, was drawn into the strike of furniture wagon drivers to day. Fifteen members were ordered to quit work because their employers had refused to sign the wage agreement of furniture drivers.

It was announced to night by officials of the furniture drivers' union that a conference with the employers had been arranged for to morrow and that there was an excellent prospect of the strike being settled.

MURDER AND SUICIDE

Dead Bodies of Man and Woman Found in Detroit.

CASES DISMISSED.

Cripple Creek, Colo., Nov. 18.—District Attorney Trowbridge to day dismissed the cases of forty-three men charged with complicity in the Independence depot explosion and Victor riot of June 6 last. Two of the men had been in jail five months. Others were out on bond. There remain similar charges against seven men, including Charles H. Meyer, president, and William D. Haywood, secretary-treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners, but it is doubtful whether these cases will ever be tried.

The resolutions favor the continued enforcement of the anti-liquor law and declare that saloons and low dives existed in the vicinity of military posts prior to the abolition of intoxicating liquors from the canteen and that their presence in the neighborhood of army posts is not the result of such abolition.

The resolutions call upon state and territorial legislatures to prohibit traffic in intoxicating liquors within two or more miles of the military reservations, and urged the government to encourage total abstinence among officers and men of the army.

PRESS CLUB GOES TO CHAMPAIGN

President James of State University Will Entertain Chicago Newspapermen.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—One hundred and fifty Chicago writers and newspapermen will go to Champaign tomorrow in the Press club's trip to the University of Illinois. In the party will be a score or more of editors of Illinois papers outside of Chicago, who are non-resident members of the club. The trip is made on the invitation of President Edmund J. James of the university and the board of trustees. The party will leave at 8:25 o'clock from the Illinois Central station at Twelfth street, the company having set aside three cars for the club, which will be attached to the New Orleans fast train.
The circulation end of the Chicago press
will be represented by the Daily News
Newsboys' band, forty strong.

The party will reach Champaign just before noon and luncheon will be served in the armory. The formal exercises will take place after the luncheon. The Press club will be represented by Otto Read, the author, Merrill McCormick of the Tribune and R. G. Cooley, superintendent of schools. President James and members of the faculty and the board of trustees will speak for the university. Following these formal exercises there will be a general inspection of the university grounds and buildings with a drill by the university regiment. When the time comes for the great foot ball game between the University of Illinois and the University of Iowa
the visitors will fall in behind the Newsboys' band and march to the foot ball field. To preserve strict impartiality between the two states the newsboys will be instructed to play "A Hot Time in the Old Town" whenever there is a touchdown, whichever side makes it. The visitors will be instructed in the Illinois yell aboard the train and are expected to be among the rooters for the Illini. After the foot ball game the time will be spent until supper in visiting and with an impromptu entertainment provided by the newspaper men of Urbana and Champaign. The visitors will arrive back in Chicago at 10:30 o'clock Saturday night.

"The visit of the writers and newspapermen to the University of Illinois," said Homer J. Carr, president of the Press club, last night, "means much more than a pleasant day's outing. No institution of learning in the west has made greater strides forward in the past decade than the University of Illinois. Its advance in equipment and in all that goes to make a great university has been steady and the people of Illinois can well be proud of the great institution which tops the public school system of the state. It is hoped that the trip will do much to enlighten Chicagoans upon the advantages of their own state university. Situated between Michigan on one side and Wisconsin on the other, the University of Illinois has not always attracted its due proportion of students among the state universities.
With a progressive man like Dr. James at its head the University of Illinois is destined to enter upon a career of even greater usefulness and the trip is in line with his ideas of general progressiveness."

WORSE.

Perhaps you have never thought of it, but the fact must be apparent to every one that constipation is caused by a lack of water in the system, and the use of drastic cathartics like the old fashioned pills only makes a bad matter worse. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are much more mild and gentle in their effect, and when the proper dose is taken their action is so natural that one can hardly realize it is the effect of a

Springfield Lineman Lost His Balance and Was Killed—Bold
Burglary Attempt at Lincoln
—Other Notes.

Springfield—B. D. Hall, a lineman in the employ of the city utilities company, while working on the pole at the southwest corner of Sixth and Jefferson streets just before noon Friday, in some way lost his balance and plunged to the ground a distance of thirty feet. His head struck on the pavement of the street and he was killed instantly.

There was a large number of people on the street at the time and several of them saw the man take the plunge to his death. He fell head downwards and all the front part of his skull was crushed in. The remains were taken up and carried to Bischof's undertaking rooms, where the body will be held until further arrangements are made.

How Hall lost his balance is only a matter of conjecture. Linemen say that his fall was probably caused by his receiving a shock from a short circuit, which for the time being made him unable to hold onto the pole. Another theory is that the spur on one of his feet gave way and the slip precipitated him to the ground.

Very little is known of the unfortunate man. He had been in the city but two weeks and it is supposed from what he has said that he has relatives living in Wisconsin.

Lincoln—One of the boldest attempts at robbery perpetrated in this city in a long time was made at 2 o'clock Thursday morning at the home of Mrs. Carrie Orton. A burglar with the assistance of a confederate who remained outside, gained access to the Orton home and was in Mrs. Orton's bedroom when she awoke and heard the intruder. She asked if he was her son, when the robber seized her by the throat and prevented an outcry. After asking her if she was alone in the house and inquiring for money he left the room. In the dining room he was accosted by another son of Mrs. Orton. He called the boy, who thought he was the family physician, and responded. Seizing him about the neck the burglar threw him surprised and with force to the ground and escaped through a door which he opened with calmness and deliberation. Mrs. Orton is the widow of the late F. C. Orton and is wealthy.

Litchfield—The Finley & Shonfield Glass Bottle works, of this city, are shut down, throwing 180 men out of employment. The cause of the shutdown is said to be the want of coke.
The plant has been seriously crippled for several afternoons and nights on account of the shut-down of the electric light plant. It is expected that the plant will resume work shortly.

FROM SOUTH AFRICA.

New Way of Using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

Mr. Arthur Chapman writing from Durban, Natal, South Africa, says:
"As a proof that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a cure suitable for old and young, I pen you the following: A neighbor of mine had a child just over two months old. It had a very bad cough and the parents did not know what to give it. I suggested that if they would get bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and put some upon the dummy teat the baby was sucking it would no doubt cure the child. This they did and brought about a quick relief and cured the baby." This remedy is for sale by all leading druggists.

ARCADIA RAILROAD.

The first train that ever went through Arcadia was seen by the surprised people Thursday. J. E. Kennedy went to Litchberry to get two old stock cars to use on his farm as corn cribs and took a traction engine with him to pull the cars home. Mr.
Kennedy held the positions of engineer, fireman and conductor and as he passed the school houses was very much surprised to see the children flocking out to witness the building of what they thought was a new fashioned railroad. It is not known whether Mr. Kennedy will run the train again or not but if he does he will certainly have a few passengers.

CATHOLIC KNIGHTS.

Daniel Sweeney has returned from Belleville, where he attended the semi-annual meeting of the Catholic Knights of America, of which organization he is supreme president. He reports a successful meeting and that the order is in a flourishing condition. The reports of the officers were very gratifying, showing increases in membership and in the reserve fund. Since the organization of the order about $100,000 has been paid out in benefits. The present membership is about 2,000.

The most important matter brought before the body was the question of changing the rates. The delegates did not desire to take it upon themselves to settle the question, as a wide diversity of opinion was disclosed in the free discussion that was indulged in. The matter was reported back to the branches to be voted upon within three months and reported to the trustees for final action.

The old officers were mostly returned. Daniel Sweeney, of this city, being re-elected supreme president and Charles L. Degen was re-elected as one of the supreme trustees.

A HELP TO GOOD THINKING

The Right Cigar Makes the Right Thought Come at the Right Time.

There are a good many men in Jacksonville who never start out to buy anything that may require a little bargaining without lighting a cigar. It is a fact that a good cigar helps a smoker to think and is often the means of making a good trade.

But the cigar has to be a good one, like Wadsworth Bros.' "Chicos," a cigar that smokes freely, with a pleasant flavor, and whose ash does not commit the unpardonable sin of coming off in little lumps.

Any one who wants a help to good thinking, should get a "Chico" from Armstrong & Armstrong and see how it is possible to sell for 5c a cigar that is equal in quality to any 10c cigar ever made. Try one and see what an aid to thought it is, as well as giving the perfect enjoyment that comes from a good smoke.

"THE STORY OF ST. PAUL."

In "The Story of St. Paul" the author, Prof. W. B. Bacon, of Yale, has presented the career of the great apostle in a novel light. He has written in the spirit of modern historical research. In writing, as he has done, constructive biography and scientific criticism, he has successfully applied the results of advanced scholarship and made a most readable narrative. St. Paul is seen as the central figure in a great contest to decide whether Christianity should be a world religion or a Jewish sect. In this momentous struggle to free the growing church from its Judaizing bonds, St. Paul stamped his individuality upon the organization. The author shows how profound and important this influence was, and concludes that "Christianity as we know it is Pauline Christianity."

Professor Bacon's work is especially interesting on account of the critical method he has followed in using the two sources of St. Paul's biography—the Acts and the Epistles. His method is first to read the story as known to the author of Acts (about 100 A. D.) with critical comparison with the Epistles; then to interpret the Epistles in the light of the historical results thus obtained.

Many will recall the scholarly address by Professor Bacon at the recent anniversary celebration of Illinois college.

"IRISH PAWN BROKERS." "The Irish Pawnbrokers," the big comedy success which has made a wonderful record from coast to coast, will be the attraction at the Grand on next Monday. This is the fourth year of unparalleled success of this famous comedy, and an entirely new fourth edition by Mr. Edgar Seldon is promised. There is said to be a well defined plot with rhyme and reason for the many amusing situations and complications that follow one another in rapid order. The musical numbers written for the skit and sung by the celebrated beauty chorus in their gay gowns and pretty millinery form one of the most distinct novelties ever offered in a farce comedy. The famous farce comedy star trinnivante, Wesley and Mack and Mazie Trumbull, head the list of fun makers, and they are assisted in their efforts by Currier & Pollard, the Columbian Comedy Four, a quartet of sweet singers: John Clyde, Elmer McCannell, Charles H. Dole, Walter Kelly, Charles Wittrick, Frank J. Alcorn, Winifred Stewart, Clara Sherwood, Marie Heer and the famous beauty chorus.

The scenery is said to be the most elaborate ever carried by an organization of this kind, three complete sets being carried so that not a stick of house scenery is ever used.

The costumes are most sumptuous, the dresses are models of the dress-making art; in fact, it has been said frequently that "The Irish Pawnbrokers" is the best costumed organization on the road.

LONDON ARMSTRONG FOUND DEAD

Coroner Reynolds Called to Sinclair to Inquire Into Sudden Death of Resident of That Place.

Coroner Reynolds was called to Sinclair Friday by the sudden death of London Armstrong, who was found dead in his bed Friday morning.

Mr. Armstrong was a man about 70 years of age, who lived alone in an old house on a hill top about one-eighth of a mile from the railroad, five miles northeast of Sinclair. He lived in the one room of the house, which was in a very dilapidated condition and fully exposed to the elements.

Grover Lewis, a neighbor boy, who resides about one-fourth of a mile from the hut, saw Mr. Alexander the night before at about 5 o'clock, getting ready to assist a man named John Willett, to load some corn that he had sold him. He appeared to be in his usual health and spirits. The next morning, shortly after daylight, he went again to the hut, as was his custom, to see if Mr. Armstrong needed anything. He was shocked when he entered the door to see the aged man lying on his side in the bed, his eyes wide open. He ran back home and told his mother, who with others accompanied him to the house, where they found that the man was dead. He was lying with his right hand under his hip and his left hand under his cheek. He had evidently gone to sleep and never awakened. Everything in the room was in order. Death had evidently come in the early hours of the night, as the rats had already disfigured the face by gnawing about the nose and under the left eye.

Coroner Reynolds was notified by telephone about 7 o'clock, and went to Sinclair, where he impelled the following jury: John J. Newell, foreman; A. A. McNeal, A. A. Watt, John A. Holmes, J. H. Lewis and Edward Armstrong, clerk. Grover Lewis testified substantially as the foregoing, and John Willett testified that he had gotten a load of corn from Mr. Armstrong the previous evening. Armstrong appeared to be in good spirits, but remarked as Mr. Willett left that he was very weak and good for nothing, and couldn't work any more.

After hearing the testimony the jury returned as their verdict, that "Deceased had come to his death from exhaustion and old age."

Mr. Armstrong is survived by one brother, of Ashland, who was present at the inquest.

TASK FOR SENATOR CULLOM

Senator Cullom has taken up the task of passing upon the validity of numerous condemnation proceedings which were brought by the government to obtain title to the square adjacent to the capitol in which the new senate office building is to be located. The judgments against the government aggregate over $300,000, or about $150,000 more than Senator Cullom believes the property is worth. He says that in this instance, as always will be the case where distribution of the government's money is concerned, it has been impossible to obtain justly of award that could be persuaded to fix a valuation on the basis of actual worth. When the average citizen of Washington sells a piece of property to Uncle Sam he is perfectly content to leave the task of valuing, the same to his fellow citizens, because he knows that he will not be robbed.

WAR ON TRAIN BANDITS

Armed Guards to Patrol Outlaw Range in Wyoming.

EACH MAN DEAD SHOT AND NERVY

Union Pacific Railroad Organizes Company of Rangers to Protect Its Trains From Raiders—Especially Equipped Car, With Horses Ready, Can Be Hurried to Danger Place on Short Notice.

To clean up the worst bandit belt in the country is the task to which the Union Pacific railroad has set itself, says a special dispatch from Denver to the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. "The flat has gone forth from headquarters that the organized bands of train robbers that have operated in the bad lands of Wyoming are to be exterminated."

To secure this result Tim Kellher's company of mounted rangers has been formed to patrol the tracks of that railroad in the outlaw storm center between Medicine Bow, Wyo., and Green River. Armed guards ride every passenger train. A special car and engine lie in the railroad yards at Cheyenne, Wyo., ready at a moment's notice to transport fast horses and hardy riders to the scene of action. The industry of train robbing is to be suppressed at all costs.

The suggestion that armed guards ride on every passenger train was made first by W. L. Park, superintendent of the Wyoming division of the line, after the Wilcox and Tipton robberies of 1899 and 1900. This plan was shortly afterward put into force by W. T. Canham of Omaha, chief of the secret service of the Union Pacific system. The result has amply justified the precaution. From that day to this there has not been a robbery in the protected territory. But the Union Pacific proposed to make assurance doubly sure. To that end Tim Kellher's ranger company has been formed to patrol the "bandit belt," which stretches from east of Rawlins to Green river through a rough, sparsely settled country favorable to the operations of train robbers.

This company is composed of picked men. Every one of them is a dead shot, a good rough rider and "is nerved as they make them." It costs the Union Pacific about $1,000 a month to maintain its ranger service, but the U. P. flirts go screaming through the Bad Lands of Wyoming without fear of bandits, for on every passenger train guards sit nursing repeating rifles, and somewhere along the line between Cheyenne and Green river is the ranger's car, loaded with fast horses and determined officers, ready to take up the trail as soon as electricity has flashed the message of the robbery.

The extension of the long distance telephone to the ranch lands, following as it did the settlement of the cow country, was the first shock to the flourishing industry of train robbing. Since the whereabouts of the escaping desperadoes could be telephoned from point to point in advance of their arrival it became necessary to abandon the more settled portions of the country for their fields of operation.

There were established what became known as "bandit belts." One stretched across Texas to Arizona along the Southern Pacific line. Another zigzagged through the Colorado mountains to the country about the well known Robbers' Roost. A third—and the most dangerous of all—belted Wyoming in the rough cow country, where the Jackson's Hole and the notorious Hole in the Wall. Here among the Tetons, as the Big Horn mountains are called, far from civilization and the long arm of the law, lurked a strange population composed of cattle rustlers, highwaymen and fugitives from justice. The Hole in the Wall especially was a natural fortification, and what was of more avail to the desperadoes who fastened it, every settler was at odds with the law.

No sheriff's posse could invade its sacred precincts and hale forth a criminal. The news of the pursuit would be whispered apparently on the wings of the wind, and long before the daring sheriff had reached the spot his quarry had vanished. The officials got back to civilization alive they were in luck.

The headquarters of the rangers are at Cheyenne, where the specially equipped car is kept when not on the road. This is nothing more than a freight car fitted up for the accommodation of the patrol guard. One end of it serves to accommodate the horses, while the other is fitted up for the men. In it are a number of portable cots which fold up into a package that can almost be put in a pocket. These, of course, are never taken on the train, but are used to sleep on while the special is carrying them to the point of action.

A score of blankets, some cowmen's saddles, a pack saddle and a pannier, a rack for arms, a dozen canteens, tin stove and a small ladder complete the equipment of the car. In this miniature pantry are always kept coffee, bacon, flour, salt and the inevitable canned goods. While on the trail the rangers sometimes kill a cow to fill out their larder. A gang plunk for unloading the horses is always carried along. The horses have become so accustomed to this that they run up it as naturally as those in the fire department fall into harness.

The chief knows where each of his men is, and within thirty minutes of the time of receiving a wire the rangers' special is hurrying through the night at fifty miles an hour with a clear right of way over every train on the trail.

GRETNIA GREEN IN BELFRY.

Pastor's Attachment to His Apartment in Chicago Church Tower.

A Gretnia Green at the pinnacle of a "vertical flat," with roof garden attachment for lovers, balmy breezes and perpetual moonlight, will be henceforth operated in the belfry and other floors of the tower of the First Congregational church of South Chicago by the pastor, the Rev. George A. Bird, says the Chicago Inter Ocean.

Since the recent secret wedding there of eighteen-year-old Lydia Nusbbaum to Robert Gray has shown how a bridal couple can elude even the most vigilant eyes and old shoe throwers the preacher has determined to make the most of his peculiar abode and will use it as the headquarters for those who seek to imitate that happy couple.

"I built this church tower for many reasons," said the Rev. Mr. Bird the other night to a visitor. "I believe in making things attractive for those who contemplate marriage. I have noticed that church towers are usually useless and chiefly occupied by dust, owls and rats. That is not in keeping with my ideas. I built this as a memorial to my departed wife. I have it arranged like a flat. The only difference is that one room is above the other instead of being horizontally arranged. It is a 'vertical flat'.

"Marriages are made in heaven, they say, and this is as close to it as we can get until Santos-Dumont perfects safe airships.

"No, there is nothing irregular about a marriage in a steeple. Why should there be? It is part and parcel of the sacred structure. The two staircases are handy. The couples can come up on one side single and go down on the other side married. This there is no confusion or unnecessary spilling of rice."

The Rev. Mr. Bird has installed a telephone, and when the weather permits the roof garden will be in full operation.

GYMNASIUM DANCES.

Social Diversion Introduced by Mrs. George Westinghouse.

Gymnasium dances are expected to supply a novelty this season, says the New York Press. They have been "featured" successfully in Lenox by Mrs. George Westinghouse in her country home, Brinsford park. As the name implies, the dance is held in the gymnasium, which in the rural homes of millionaires is no small source of worry to the architect. Such a room must be substantial enough for practical use, and convenient to the sleeping apartments, yet so situated as not to interfere with the quieter life of the family.

It is the excellent arrangement of the gymnasium as Brinsford park, in a separate building, that makes Mrs. Westinghouse's new dance popular. She and her husband recently gave a dinner and dance to mark the return of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Henry Deland from a wedding trip. All the paraphernalia of gymnastics remained in the big hall, but American beauties were twined about the French foils on the walls, and great clusters of chrysanthemums were massed among the boxing gloves, dumb bells and Indian clubs. Festoons of flowers decked the trapezes, horizontal bars and traveling rings.

Supper for the small party was served on a giant springboard. The only casualty occurred when one of the butler's assistants, with a heavy load of tray, tripped over a medicine ball. Mrs. Spencer is to give a similar dance next month in the gymnasium of her country house in Scarborough.

Japanese as Farmers.

The Japanese have surprised the world as fighters, but, according to Harold Bolce, they are also the most remarkable agricultural nation in the world, says the London Globe. They have only 10,000 square miles of arable land. An automobile going fifty miles an hour could skirt this area in eleven hours. Yet it supports an imperial nation—the rising power of the far east. Experts admit that the scientific skill of Japanese agriculturists is unapproachable. "Patient diligence, with knowledge of the chemistry of the soil and the physiology of plants, has yielded results that have astounded the most advanced agriculturists in western nations."

General Oyama an Excellent Judge.

When Field Marshal Oyama, chief of the Japanese general staff, was judge advocate he attended a ball at Tokyo one night, says the London Mirror. He was standing near a doorway when a beautiful European woman swept by, and so greatly did her charms impress Judge Oyama that he exclaimed, in astonishment, "What a lovely woman!" She overheard him. With a little smile, she looked back over her shoulder and, recognizing him, said, "What an excellent judge!"

Capture of Big Game in Arizona.

At Hoagland returned recently from the Huachuclas, in Arizona. He brought back the biggest, biggest bear, big as ever saw, the prettiest wildcat, a pair of big musical yellow rattlesnakes and the beautiful skin of a peculiar kind of king snake, says the Tombstone (Ariz.) Epitaph. At will make rugs of the snakeskin and pets of the rattlesnakes.

Buddhist Missionaries in Jap Army.

In every division of the Japanese army a number of Buddhist missionaries are preaching the noble gospel of their master, says the Light of Dharma. Among the naval stations and squadrons many Buddhists have also been working. Since the outbreak of the Russo-Japanese war more missionaries have been sent to the front to assist in this work than were formerly connected with the army and navy.

A FOXY FATHER

(Original.)

"Louis," said the elder (Clas), Winifred loves you."

"Me, father?"

"Yes, you. You have been very stupid not to notice it."

Winifred Howe had been adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Olmsted and treated as a daughter. Louis pondered for awhile at his father's information, then asked: "What do you want me to do, father?"

"What your inclination prompts."

After more pondering Louis said: "Winifred is very lovely. Perhaps we shall make a match in time."

Fish easily caught are not considered desirable, and Louis treated his foster sister indifferently, while she, poor girl, waited patiently for a loving word. Louis was spending his vacation at home before his last year in the law department of his alma mater and in the autumn returned to his studies. On his departure the family parted with him at the door. Winifred among them. When it came her turn to clasp his hand she did so without pressure and with averted eyes. Mr. Olmsted, Sr., accompanied his son to the carriage, but made no mention of what Louis knew was a thwarted desire.

Some time after Louis' return to the law school he received a letter from his father containing the following paragraph:

You may remember that I desired a match between you and Winifred. This was because I wished at my death that you should inherit the homestead and my other property without dividing it. Winifred, however, has assured me that she will in no case accept any legacy from me, and I think she will marry a young man who has recently made her acquaintance—poor, but very promising. Therefore you need not trouble yourself any further about her and consider my implied request withdrawn.

A few days after the receipt of this letter Louis Olmsted appeared one morning at home. His father manifested surprise at seeing him and asked him what brought him back in term time.

"This matter of Winifred. You see, father, it places me in rather an unpleasant position. I appear as one who doesn't fall in with your desires, as accepting all of a fortune of which Winifred should have half and of turning away a girl who you assured me loved me."

"You are borrowing trouble, my boy, though your feelings do you credit. You have nothing to worry about. We can't force Winifred to accept what she will not accept, and since you don't want her I know you are not a 'dog in the manger' to keep any one else from getting her."

"Who is the fellow?"

"What fellow?"

"She's going to marry."

"Oh, I have no authority from her to speak of that. It's only a matter of observation with me."

"You may be mistaken."

"Certainly."

"Perhaps you were mistaken when you told me that Winifred was in love with me."

"Quite likely."

"You must certainly be wrong in one case or the other."

"That's a logical deduction. I see that you're proving by your studies. You'll make an excellent lawyer."

Louis was walking back and forth, evidently much dissatisfied with the situation.

"Where is Winifred?"

"She's away at present."

"Away?"

"Certainly. I said so."

"Where?"

"On a visit to her Aunt Caroline."

Louis knew that this was a day's journey. He muttered something between his teeth.

"Come, Louis," said his father, "you have done very wrong to leave your studies. You must go back at once."

A time-table was produced, and it was found that a night train would leave in half an hour. The young man would just have time to reach it. He bade his father a sudden goodbye and started for the train. Mr. Olmsted stood looking down the street after him.

"Good!" he muttered, going into the house. "He can't go back to college that way."

The next day Winifred received word that her foster father was waiting to see her in the drawing room.

"Why, Louis," she said, surprised, "what brings you here? Anything the matter at home?"

"Matter? I'm afraid I'm too late."

"Too late for what?"

"To tell you that I love you and want you to be my wife."

Winifred stood gazing first at him, then at the floor. Louis put his arm about her and, drawing her to him, kissed her. He was filled with a wild joy when he found that she did not resist.

"Why have you done this so suddenly? Why come here to speak?"

"Well, father, he said."

"What?"

"Oh, father's always thinking you're going to marry some one. He's made no end of blunders about you."

"Late that night Louis took a train directly back to college." While waiting at the station a train pulled out, and on the platform stood a friend of Mr. Olmsted, Sr.

"Hello, Louis!" he called. "What are you doing here? Going back to college? I'm going home. I'll see your father and tell him I met you."

"Don't you do any such thing!" called Louis.

Long after Louis and Winifred had been married at a family gathering this friend spoke of his meeting with Louis. Louis and Winifred glanced sharply at each other. As for Mr. Olmsted, Sr., he simply grunted:

"Humph!" LENA M. BROOKS.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

We don't put Scott's Emulsion in the class of advertised

cure-alls; it doesn't belong

there. We hardly like to use the word "cure" at all, but we are bound to say that it can be used for a great many troubles with great satisfaction. Its special function is to repair

the waste of the body when the ordinary food does not nourish, and this means that it is useful in many cases

which are indicated by wasting.

DEATH OF JAMES FOLEY.

James Foley, a prominent politician and business man of Springfield, Ohio, and known to many in this city, died at his home Thursday morning, Nov. 10, after an illness of about a year's duration.

Mr. Foley came from an illustrious family, his antecedents having been prominent in the civil and social life of Virginia in revolutionary times. His grandfather, James Foley, was born in Virginia, but settled in Clark county, Ohio, in 1803. He was the son of John Foley and was born in Clark county, Ohio, Aug. 30, 1838. Upon the death of his father, when he was 3 years of age, he removed with his mother to this county, where they made their home for five years with Mrs. Foley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Dunlap. He later returned to Ohio, where he made his home with his grandparents until his marriage in 1862.

Mr. Foley was very successful in business as in politics and left a considerable estate. In politics he was always a stalwart Republican of most pronounced convictions.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Organization Launched on What All Hope Will be a Successful Voyage.

Constitution Adopted and Directors Chosen With 64 Charter Members who Signed the Proposal to Organize.

The new Historical society of Jacksonville was brought into existence Friday night at the library building in an auspicious manner and gives every promise of a long and useful career. There was a remarkably good attendance and all present were enthusiastic for the work. The meeting was called to order by James G. Capps, who explained the object of the gathering, and stated that a committee, consisting of Dr. O. E. Black, Rev. C. M. Brown and Hon. E. M. Kinman, had been named to manage the arrangements for this, the first meeting, and it was evident they had done their work well. He then called for nominations for temporary chairman of the occasion and Dr. W. F. Short was chosen and took his place with a few felicitous remarks.

S. W. Nichols was chosen secretary.

In response to a request from J. G. Capps, Dr. C. E. Black, of the committee on organization, said they had hoped to have present at the meeting Dr. J. F. Snyder, of Virginia, chairman of the state Historical society, and an eminently suitable person for such a position, but unavoidable business had kept the gentleman away. The speaker was glad, however, to have a letter from Mr. Burnham, president of the Bloomington society, which was read and did much to add information useful for the purpose in hand.

The chair was instructed to name a committee of five to prepare and present a constitution and by-laws for the conduct of the society, and he selected Dr. C. E. Black, Mrs. E. P. Kirby, Frank Heintz, Dr. A. L. Adams and R. R. Stevenson. The gentlemen retired and while they were absent the meeting heard a number of brief addresses by persons present. The first to speak as requested by the chair was Mrs. Carriel, and of her remarks and those of the others a very brief account only is practicable owing to the lateness of the hour.

"I am indeed glad to see this society organized for Jacksonville and Morgan county are rich in material to make the archives of the organization exceedingly valuable. Each day we do things which to us seem unimportant, but to succeeding generations they will be as interesting as are the accounts of the deeds of our ancestors. Several questions have lately been submitted to me and were my father alive a few words from him would settle them, but as it is much time and labor will be necessary, and their success is doubtful. I am glad to see so many here and note the interest manifested."

Dr. Wilder, pastor of Centenary church, said he had lived in McLean county for some years and had noted the good accomplished by such a society there. Captain Burnham was an enthusiastic member and president and took great interest in the work. He was glad to see the interest manifested and hoped the society would succeed.

Dr. F. P. Norbury was fully in sympathy with the movement. Last year much effort was made to secure a history of the medical practice in the county society, and while they had succeeded they would have done much better earlier. He was glad to see the effort being made to present a history of the Illinois river and what had taken place along its banks.

Dr. Short said that for philanthropic labors of the legal fraternity had been noted and he called on Judge Layman.

Many facts regarding the past had been lost. We were not aware how the pyramids were constructed nor what was their object. Much valuable material was going to waste because there was no one to prepare and care for it. Morgan county had supplied the state with three governors. Here, too, the abolition society was organized and went through so much toil and hardship in the cause of humanity.

Dr. Short suggested that the abolition society was an educational affair, especially in astronomy pointing out that object to the fugitives and aiding them, too, in that direction.

S. W. Nichols said there were several men whose memory especially deserved recognition. The father of the water works system was Joseph O. King and his labors were of great value to the city. J. W. King and J. W. Lathrop were the principal ones to lead in setting out the noble trees on State street; Professor Turner, those on College avenue. Professor Turner had given the state the orange for fences at a time when it was peculiarly acceptable. Other men deserved recognition and this society would aid in that direction certainly.

L. O. Vaughn said he was deeply interested in the society. He had recently been in Merced and heard accounts of the early days of that place and was much interested. Jacksonville had the first railroad in the west. He had recently read the history of Jacksonville and the Missouri river and found it interesting.

Efforts should soon be made to get what remaining old persons can relate.

Rev. J. B. Fairbank said he was probably the oldest settler of Morgan county present, though Dr. Short was not far behind. He recalled the eminent men of long ago, such as McCannel, Smith, Duncan, Bateman, Thomas and many others, who had left an impression on the county.

The committee on constitution and by-laws then returned and announced that they had practically decided to recommend the document suggested by the state society and Dr. Black read it. All who desired to become members of the society were asked to rise and later they signed their names, which are appended.

The report of the committee was adopted and then it was declared in order to elect nine directors by ballot, and Messrs. L. O. Vaughn, J. P. Lippincott, W. T. Wilson and Frank Heintz were named as tellers and it was decided that from the eighteen highest on the first ballot the nine should be chosen. J. G. Capps was one of the number, but refused to be considered on the second ballot, which was then taken and resulted in the choice of Dr. C. E. Black, Dr. T. J. Pitner, Dr. W. F. Short, Dr. F. P. Norbury, Mrs. H. F. Carriel, Frank Heintz, Dr. Josephine Milligan, Andrew Russell and S. W. Nichols. L. O. Vaughn and Dr. Josephine Milligan were a tie and Mr. Vaughn insisted on declining in favor of the lady.

While the ballots were being counted the chair asked for remarks from Dr. Pitner and others.

Dr. Pitner said he was a member of the first society and was cordially in favor of this one. He remembered many things told by Judge Thomas and other early settlers and it was fitting that the history of our county should be prepared in the best way possible.

Mrs. M. E. Lane said she wished she could remember the many interesting reminiscences she had heard her father, Jeremiah Silbert, relate. She approved of the society and would gladly aid it in all ways possible.

Mrs. Tomlin said her father came to this county from Virginia at an early day and owned a large amount of land on a part of which the town of Virginia was built. She had seen and known many historical characters in her time.

Dr. Pitner related an interesting anecdote of the home in which Mrs. Reardon lived. They had brought a Brussels carpet, but it was so ridiculed by the people that it was sent back east.

Dr. Reid told how important it was to collect material before it was too late. One part of the county he could tell more about than almost any other person, as he had lived there long ago and known many pioneers of that part of old Morgan.

Dr. Black told of a battle with Indians near the present site of Island Grove and Mr. Worthington of one in Pike.

Rev. C. M. Brown said another encounter with the redskins took place near the vicinity of Nichols park and another not far from the present home of the Blackbuns northwest of the city.

Dr. Short told of the school conducted at Ebenezer by Peter Akers and of three Indians who were educated there.

W. J. Lane promised to give the society an interesting book he owned.

Dr. Short told of valuable articles he had presented the state society and which he would gladly have given a home organization had there been one.

The directors agreed to meet at the library building at 2:30 p. m. to day to select officers, as the constitution decides that is a part of their duty.

The following is a list of the persons who signed their names as members:
